

Still more from the Columbia County meeting:

- "Did you know that JEA is under consent order right now?... That means that they're polluting the St. Johns River every day." — Merrilee Malwitz Jipson, Columbia County
- "I have seen things like Occidental come in. I don't know where they were. When Occidental came in, they promised they would not take enough water out to ruin the springs and so forth. They did... I suggest tonight you call DeSantis, [and] your representative." — Dee Paddock, Suwannee County
- "We don't solve resource depletion by introducing new risks into the system. We solve it through responsible management, transparency, and protection of the resource itself." —Nathaniel Warner, Columbia County
- "The people have spoken. We don't want a big septic tank for Jacksonville's waste." —Kevin Parnell, Columbia BOCC
